Court overturns mail smut laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today unanimously struck down two federal laws used to keep obscene material out of the mail.

In an opinion by Justice William J. Brennan Jr., the court affirmed two decisions by lower courts in cases from Atlanta and Los Angeles which said the laws violated the constitutional guarantee of freedom of expression.

All nine justices joined in the judgment although Justice Hugo L. Black agreed only in the result without concurring in Brennan's opinion.

One law, dating back to the 1800s, allows the postmaster general to decide after a hearing whether mailed matter is obscene and to block mail addressed to the sender of such matter. The burden of getting a judicial review of such a decision is on the person whose mail has been blocked.

A more recent federal law allows postal authorities to get court action while awaiting the result of an administrative procedure to determine obscenity. A federal district court could impound the incoming mail of a person shown to have probably mailed obscene material.

Wishing to obtain the material is impounded pending the outcome of the case.

The laws were challenged in Los Angeles by a North Hollywood magazine publisher, Tony Rizzi, doing business as the Mailbox; and in Atlanta, Ga., by a distributor known as the Bookbin.

The postmaster had objected to magazines mailed by Rizzi entitled "Gigl," "Bunny" and "Golden Girls," among others.

Only one magazine, "Models of France," was involved in the Bookbin case.

CSI airs funds bid

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's two junior colleges asked the legislature Wednesday for 50 per cent state funding for academic programs and 100 per cent for vocational programs.

Dr. James Taylor, president of the College of Southern Idaho, Twin Falls, and Dr. Harry Schuler, president, North Idaho Junior College, Coeur d'Alene, appeared before the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee to seek General Fund monies for fiscal year 1972.

The request included $1,270,778 for academic programs for both institutions, $1,167,200 for vocational programs and a $4 million package for building construction.

Broken down, the academic program request was for $655,015 for CSI and $586,480 for NIJC, with another $63,461 for CSI and $34,822 for NIJC for the "employers matching contribution to the Public Employees Retirement System."

Snowstorm halts search

TWIN FALLS — Snow falling in Twin Falls and surrounding areas today halted efforts to search for a light plane which has been missing since Sunday on a flight from Jackpot to Hailey. Three men were aboard.

Harry Merrick, search coordinator, said it had stopped snowing at the airport about 11 a.m. He said if the weather cleared, some search planes might get into the air about noon.

Alaskan pipeline gets Interior nod

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interior Department said Wednesday a proposed Alaska oil pipeline should be built in the interest of national security and the state's economy even though some environmental harm will be "unavoidable."

The department's preliminary recommendations were contained in a 100-page draft report based on studies under way since April, 1969. The department announced public hearings will be held Feb. 12-13 in Anchorage and Feb. 16-17 in Washington. It said its recommendations were subject to change as a result of those hearings.

Former Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel, who earlier refused a construction permit in the absence of environmental safeguards, said in Anchorage he was "confident that the department's report contained enough recommended safeguards to keep environmental damage to an acceptable level. No one can guarantee anything 100 per cent," he said. "But I am confident that it can be held to a minimum."

For vocational training programs, the request included $407,705 for SCI and $345,908 for NIJC current funding, another $117,346 for SCI and $100,000 for NIJC to bring the state's level to 100 per cent, and $26,500 for SCI and $10,471 for NIJC for the employers matching contribution to the retirement system.

Taylor noted in the joint presentation that area vocational schools at other state institutions are completely reimbursed for all expenditures.

In addition, Schuler said, the institutions have largely lost their autonomous positions for vocational programs since all programs have to be approved by the State Department of Vocational Education, so "there's very little logic in continuing the burden on the local taxpayer."

The 50 per cent funding for the two institutions, Taylor said, would bring state support to the level "presently being provided for Idaho public elementary and secondary schools."

Taylor said the junior colleges provided "good, sound, defensible education" by allowing the students "an opportunity to find direction."

Schuler also opposed a tuition increase, noting most of his students are not from affluent families.

CSI has requested $2.1 million for building construction and NIJC $1.8 million.

Both requests were noted by the State Board of Education, but no decision was made whether to place the two institutions on the board's formula program for distributing educational funds.

Flashes diamond

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — A spokesman for First Lady Pat Nixon describes reports that Tricia Nixon is engaged as "highly speculative" but concedes that the ring she is wearing on her engagement finger indicates "something is going on."

Connie Stuart, staff director for Mrs. Nixon, says her response to reports that the President's eldest daughter will march down the White House aisle with Harvard law student Edward Finch Cox is "still status quo"—meaning no one is talking.

Death probed

RUPERT — An inquest is pending in the shooting death of Jesse Mancillas, 21, Burley, Minidoka County. Prosecuting Attorney Don Chisholm, said today.

He said the inquest will be held next week if Coroner Robert C. Walk decides to call one after conferring with investigating officers. Rupert Police Chief Ed Culver said investigation of the fatal shooting at the Werry Apartments Monday night is continuing.

Results of an autopsy performed Tuesday still were not known today. Coroner Walk was not available for comment.

Mancillas, son of Mrs. Ignacio Mancillas, Burley, died early Tuesday at Minidoka Memorial Hospital.

Chisholm said Jesus Chavez, 30, and Francisco Chavez, 32, charged earlier with assault with a deadly weapon in the stabbing of Mancillas Dec. 30 in Burley, are in no way connected with the shooting.

Bobby Baker jailed

LEWISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Robert G. (Bobby) Baker was led handcuffed into a federal prison today after getting lost on his way to surrender to federal marshals.

The one-time Senate page who became a protege of Lyndon B. Johnson and a millionaire businessman entered the Allenwood Prison Farm of Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary to serve a one-to-three year term for fraud, theft and income tax evasion.

He was escorted by three U.S. marshals as he entered the prison, wearing handcuffs, sunglasses despite the rainy weather, and a black overcoat.

Baker showed up in Lewisburg to surrender, as agreed to earlier, shortly after 8:30 a.m.

About 10 newsmen followed him as he tried to enter a bank building across the street from the federal building where the marshal's offices are located.

He noticed a Christmas club sign on the bank door, realized he was at the wrong building and walked away. Then he sought directions from the newsmen, who directed him across the street.

At Fairfield, about a foot of new snow has fallen during the past several days, but Thursday snow was falling only intermittently.

The Jerome area also was receiving heavy snowfall and roads in that area were extremely slick. It was reported the snow fell on top of an ice base.

Blaze kills 9

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Fire in the basement of a church-operated residence home for senior citizens sent thick clouds of black smoke rolling through the building today.

Nine of the elderly patients, unable to reach the balconies of their apartments, died of smoke inhalation and 58 were taken to hospitals, five in critical condition.

The blaze was discovered about 2 a.m. in the Westminster Terrace Presbyterian Home in suburban Bechtel, four-year-old, luxurious four-story residence home with individual apartments housing 94 persons.

When the alarm was sounded, most of the elderly men and women residents were able to make their way to their individual apartment balconies, as they had been instructed in regular fire drills.

Dicker stickers suggested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) has indicated interest in a General Motors proposal that auto price stickers include a note advising consumers, in effect, to bargain for a better price.

Such a step would fall far short of the FTC's original proposal which would require that the "sticker," or manufacturer's suggested retail price, be within 3 per cent of a level at which substantial sales are actually made.

S. Viet armor strikes

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — South Vietnamese troops and armor aided by U.S. B-52 bombers flying their first combat missions in Cambodia in months overrun one Communist-held mountain pass on vital north-south Highway 4 today and closed in on another, military sources reported.

Little Communist resistance to the drive by 1,000 Vietnamese and 8,000 Cambodians was reported, but in a sharp clash Wednesday South Vietnamese Rangers reported killing 31 Communists four miles south of the Stung Chhay pass without suffering a casualty.

Following that battle military sources said the South Vietnamese Rangers and tank-borne cavalry troops swept through the Stung Chhay pass at noon today without meeting resistance. The Communists were thought to have withdrawn into the Kirirom plateau where the B-52s dropped their loads.

From the Stung Chhay pass, the Rangers were sweeping north toward the second pass, the Pich Nil, which is about 60 miles southwest of Phnom Penh. Those two passes control the 158-mile route 4 from Phnom Penh to the seaport of Kompong Som, Cambodia's only port and site of its only oil refinery.

Informed sources in Saigon said the United States was underwriting the cost of the South Vietnamese operation estimated at $35 million.

Communes cut off

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Acting under a little-noticed amendment which emerged from Congress last month, the Agriculture Department may cut off some hippie communes from government food stamps.

The action is possible because of a new food stamp law signed by President Nixon Monday, which includes a new definition of "households" eligible for the stamp.

The coupons currently help feed some 9.3 million needy Americans, including an unknown number residing in hippie communes.

Rev. Hubbard concluded with a prayer asking that the people be able to see the problems and

Liberal Demos press reforms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic liberals moved Wednesday to turn next week's expected minor reforms in the seniority system into a major overhaul.

Among other changes, they proposed to put an age limit on committee chairmen and to limit each chairman's tenure to eight years.

Rep. James J. Howard, D-N.J., spokesman for the group at a news conference, predicted that in the 92nd Congress organization sessions next week that would not be the sole determining factor.

Howard said his group, which he expects to be swelled by caucuses to a majority of the House.

U.S. asks new POW listing

PARIS (UPI) — U.S. Ambassador David K.E. Bruce today gave the Communists an updated list of all American servicemen missing in Indochina and repeated earlier requests for information on men whose fate is still unknown.

Bruce told the Communists at today's 99th session of the talks, "You have both a legal and a moral obligation to make known the information you have on these men."

He said, "Over a year ago, at the 48th session on Dec. 30, 1969, we made such a request of you here directly when we gave you a list of all American servicemen missing in Southeast Asia and asked you to indicate those you held prisoner or knew to be dead. You failed to respond satisfactorily to these requests."

South Vietnam's Pham Dang Lam told the Communists the repatriation of 40 sick and wounded North Vietnamese prisoners, promised Dec. 23, 1970, would take place Jan. 24.

Referring to Lam's announcement, Bruce told the Communists, "Your actions in this regard continue to arouse the most serious concern in my country and indeed throughout the world."

Utah drivers hazarded by avalanches, snow

LOGAN, Utah (UPI) — A motorist narrowly escaped the "white death" Wednesday afternoon as the back end of his car was hit a glancing blow by a massive avalanche that buried a Utah highway under 25 feet of snow.

The motorist was not identified, but the Utah Highway Patrol said he barely escaped the slide that blocked Logan Canyon and U.S. Highway 99, and trapped about 30 to 40 other motorists on the other side, about 3:30 p.m.

Troopers said a number of people simply locked their cars and walked across the debris, estimated to be about 1,000 feet wide and 25 feet deep in places.

Earlier in the day, several smaller slides partially blocked the highway, which is a main route between Utah and southern Idaho. Road crews cleared one lane of traffic, but then the big slide came down, covering the road about seven miles east of here.

Some motorists turned around when they reached the slide and went to Beaver Mountain ski resort to spend the night.

The Highway Department will be unable to clear the road for at least two days. They were unable to begin work until day light.

The Highway Patrol said that based on accounts of people on the road at the time of the slide, they don't believe any cars were buried. It hasn't received any reports of missing persons.

Damage from the slide was reported to be extensive. Trees and telephone poles were knocked down and a house covering a spring, part of the Logan city water supply — was reduced to kindling.

But telephone service and power wasn't interrupted, and a city commission said water service will be unaffected by destruction of the shed.

Lyon Canyon is a narrow cut through the northern Wasatch Mountains, surrounded by steep slopes. Its highest elevation is 7,600 feet. U.S.-99 follows the bottom of the canyon from Logan to Garden City, Utah, a distance of 40 miles.

Avalanches are common in the Wasatch Range. Recent heavy snows, steepness of the slopes and recent weather conditions were apparently the factors which triggered the slide.

Mustard shells shipped

NAHA, Okinawa (UPI) — The U.S. transport ship James B. Robinson left early Thursday with 150 tons of mustard and nerve gas being transferred to a remote island in the South Pacific.

Okinawans were happy to see the gas removed from this island, but they were concerned about 12,850 tons the U.S. Army has yet to transfer.

The vessel will carry the gas to new storage quarters on remote Johnson Island, 750 miles southwest of Hawaii. The mass removal is to be completed before Okinawa is returned to Japan in 1972.

The first batch of the mustard and nerve gas stored in the island was transferred from the Chibana ammunition depot in central Okinawa to the Tengen pier without incident Wednesday.

Coordinated push for new airport facilities sought

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES

Times-News Staff Writer

TWIN FALLS — An appeal for full cooperation of all news media and a single direction for community effort supporting adequate airport facilities for Twin Falls and surrounding areas was made here Wednesday afternoon by William Chancey, chairman of the Twin Falls Commissioners.

Chancey conducted a meeting called at the courthouse for all news media, airport commission members, city and county officials to explain and discuss the airport project. Chancey said some news media had criticized the manner in which information is being released in connection with airport commission meetings.

The meeting was also called, he said, to bring everyone up to date on airport problems, needs and plans. He emphasized the project will need full support of all media and deserves this support.

Plans were announced earlier to finance operation, maintenance and the new runway program with property tax money rather than attempt to pass a bond issue and sell bonds.

Commissioners Wednesday announced the tentative county budget with the full two mill levy limit for airport use expected to provide $120,000. City council members will be asked to consider levying a maximum three mills for similar support.

Morle Leonard, County commissioner, said taxpayers will be paying about $1.70 more per each $10,000 of property values on their county tax bill, or a total of $3.10 per each $10,000 in property cash value.

City council members, now in the process of preparing a new budget will be asked to levy the legal limit of three mills, for airport facilities. The city now levies two mills and the county has been levying 6¢ of a mill.

Hobart Loughmiller, commissioner, said he discussed regional airport legislation with William Lanting, county legislator, and was advised to work through the Association of Idaho Cities for a state wide program of the airport will be financed on a basis of use.

Airport commission member Bill Powell said the continuing program of the airport will be for matching federal funds can be made. Milar estimated 40 to 45 days of work is needed to resurface the runway area where breakup is now a problem. In December, he said, the city spent $8,000 for patching and has budgeted $10,000 for the spring breakup period.

In closing the special meeting Wednesday, Chancey expressed appreciation to members of the airport commission and its chairman, O. A. (Gus) Kelker, for the efforts they have made on behalf of air transportation in the area.

New snow aplenty — if accessible

TWIN FALLS — Skiers should have plenty of new snow for the coming weekend if they can get to their favorite resort to enjoy it.

All areas report some new snow and as of Thursday morning, all roads were open and in reasonably good shape with one exception. Clearing was in progress there.

Most of the new snow fall was south of the Snake River with Pomerelle and Magic Mountain reporting the largest increases in snow depths.

Sun Valley reports 18 inches of new snow since Sunday but only 1.5 inches in the past day. Roads there are now covered and slick and snow was falling Thursday. The temperature was 15 degrees. U.S. Forest Service officials said bowls have been shot daily and are all open as are all other runs. Total snow depths at Sun Valley are 60 inches at the top of Baldy, 72 inches at the Roundhouse and 39 inches on the valley floor.

Rosarun lists 40 inches at the bottom with several inches of new snow. Roads are reported good but snow tires are recommended. Snow of a light and fine type was falling Thursday. The area operates Saturday, Sunday and for night skiing on Tuesday and Thursday.

Magic Mountain was operating Thursday with four inches of new snow, having fallen during the night and about 16 inches total new snow in fall since Sunday. A slide in the road was cleared away Tuesday and the area will operate Friday. Magic is now operating Thursday through Sunday each week. Runs were partly packed Thursday with the Poma lift only in operation for Thursday skiers. Snow depths are 66 inches at the bottom of both mountains and 72 inches at the top of Magic.

Pomerelle, closed since last Friday, was preparing to open Thursday and also listed four inches of new snow. Road conditions were reported poor and persons urged to use snow tires or chains. The area has six feet of snow at the base of runs and 7.5 feet at the top. Skiing is reported excellent and snow was continuing to fall Thursday. Resort officials said all facilities will be operating for the weekend, according to present plans.

Travel lag cuts force

MONTREAL (UPI) — Air Canada said Wednesday it would lay off 415 employees as a result of the rate of decrease in traffic growth and inflationary pressures on operating costs.

A prepared statement issued in Montreal said 2.5 per cent of the publicly owned airline's personnel would be laid off. The company has 17,700 employees. The move would affect workers in Canada, the United States and Air Canada's Caribbean operation.

Judge Dan Mehl presided at the opening of the hearing and also will sit on the case when it continues next week.

Mrs. Wilcox, who is charged with first degree murder in the death of her 88-year-old mother, Mrs. Laura Wilcox, remains in custody at the Twin Falls County jail with no provision for bond.

Bill Chancey

Heber Loughmiller, as chairman of the Twin Falls County Commission the past four years, is a hard act to follow. He did his job well, enjoyed it and thrived on it.

Now we have a new chairman. His name is Bill Chancey. We said Mr. Loughmiller was a hard act to follow. And we mean it. But if there is a fellow who can do it in stride it just has to be Bill Chancey.

Mr. Chancey was selected as the new chairman earlier this week. He entered right into the job just as though it was nothing new and he had been doing it for years.

Actually, he has been a commissioner for four years and that has been an experience to provide training for anyone. So here we go with Mr. Chancey as chairman, Mr. Loughmiller and Merle Leonard as commissioners.

But Mr. Chancey is the fellow who will keep up the enthusiasm in a sometimes thankless job. His energy is apparently limitless. When others quit he just keeps going.

One of his friends hit the nail on the head when he dubbed him "Bubbling Bill." If enthusiasm "bubbles" then the nickname fits him perfectly. And under his leadership the county just has to be in for a period of getting things done with minimum delay.

Waiting Period

Those who were expected to react to Governor Andrus' State of the State report to the Legislators have apparently adopted a wait and see attitude and, because of this, are not making any detailed statements for publication.

So, taking it from here, it is evident the "approval" or disapproval of the speech is fanning out along party lines.

Many of the suggestions made by the new Governor were entirely acceptable. Some will never be, although there is evidence that an attempt will be made to convert his thoughts into action.

Among groups it is anticipated the greatest up roar will come from educators because adoption of the Governor's suggestions in this field would mean little actual gain in financial directives educational organizations have requested.

His suggestion that the state's work force be reduced by ten per cent is workable but will not be popular. On the other hand we see little opposition to steps which will result in 10-year-olds gaining the right to vote.

Basically the Governor's address was a well thought out presentation.

Now it remains to be seen if the suggestions will materialize and if ideas which must get through the Legislature will, indeed, get through.

Sixty days from now we will know a lot more about it.

ART BUCHWALD

Hard At Work

WASHINGTON — The great minds of the cigarette and advertising industries are hard at work trying to figure out ways of publicizing cigarettes on television now that cigarette commercials have been banned.

The tobacco companies are already going ahead with plans to sponsor automobile races, bowling tournaments, tennis matches and other sporting events. There is a rumor that pipe tobacco, which is not banned, will be sold in packages bearing a startling resemblance to cigarette packages.

I recently attended a brainstorming session at an advertising agency where they were discussing other methods of getting cigarette advertising across.

The head of Creative Projects said, "I think we have an idea. We could sponsor a documentary on Winston Churchill titled, 'Winston Ruled Good, Like a Prime Minister Should.' English teachers all over the country will complain about the title and so, at the beginning of the show, we could show members of British Parliament asking whether people wanted good grammar or good taste in their documentaries."

Specifically, the girls have fainted out the old chestnut, wondering in loud tones whether separating such ads by sex violates Title VII of the Civil Rights Act. I had believed this question was settled several years ago when the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission sensibly declined action. But the females are at it again.

Possibly newspapers should lump all these ads under the label "Neuter," but I don't know. Personally, I should not be tempted to employ a person named Alice the next time I needed a riveter to work on a skyscraper — or a world heavyweight champion.

Granted there are certain types of female that might fill the bill, I just wouldn't feel right putting one to work digging a tunnel under the Potomac. It would not seem courtly. And as a practical businessman, I would not feel I was getting my money's worth even from a dame who speaks bass and came equipped with biceps to match.

Anyways, as a male whose admiration of feminine charm and animal cunning extends even to that most subversive, the eternally ubiquitous Eve, I can't believe the girls are really serious in wanting out of the female world. It is preposterous that they could under-estimate their power over their influence with, and their attraction for men in their old-fashioned role.

"I like it," said the president of the agency.

The head of research said, "We've found that the TV shows that young people watch the most have animals in them. Now our people have come up with a sure-fire series titled, 'Animals Aren't for Everybody.'

This is a story of a man who owns a restless camel that keeps running away.

"Every week the man takes a mile long walk looking for his camel. Along the way he has all sorts of humorous adventures, but at the end of the program he always finds his camel."

"I like it," the president of the agency said.

The head of the TV department said, "We also have a Mission Impossible-type series on the drawing boards titled,

You Can Take Salem Out of the Country. It's about a guy named Harry Salem who works for a patriotic organization known as SMOKE. Harry goes all over the world saving the United States from evil. At the end of each show, his boss says to his secretary, 'You can take Salem out of the country, but you can't take the country out of Salem.'

"I like it," said the president of the agency. "Anything else?"

WASHINGTON — The American male's hair shirt isitching again. That is to say, assorted female liberation outfits have mounted a new attack on "help wanted" ads in newspapers, claiming they discriminate against the sometimes fairer sex.

I had believed this question was settled several years ago when the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission sensibly declined action. But the females are at it again.

WASHINGTON — While Congress temporizes about the fate of the supersonic transport plane, the Russians are stepping up their efforts here to sell their own version of the SST.

The Russian Tu-144, like the British and French Concorde, is a rival to the proposed American SST which is being developed by Boeing. The Tu-144 is one of several planes with which the Russians hope to edge into the world market for commercial airliners.

They argue that the question is not whether there will be an SST but whether the United States will be in a position to compete with its plane — an SST which will be bigger, and therefore more attractive to airline operators, than the others.

The future for the U.S. SST is very much in doubt, however. Opponents, led by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., are sure they can kill it in the Senate, and they believe last fall's elections strengthened opposition to the SST in the House.

The advertisement was sponsored by Aviaexport, the national organization for export of the entire range of Soviet-made commercial airplanes, helicopters, avionics instruments, airport and ground handling equipment.

Aviaexport advertised its Moscow headquarters address, its telephone number, and its address for commercial teletype, asserting that it can "meet buyer's needs in any part of the world."

A variety of planes, engines and other airline equipment were pictured in the advertisement. The Tu-144, with a swept-back wing and a tilt-down pointed nose, was in the preferred position, top-left in the photo display.

The Aviaexport advertisement suggested a "rendezvous at the 29th Paris Air Show, Le Bourget, 27 May — 6 June 1971." The annual air show is, of course, the big trade gathering for the aircraft industry.

According to trade sources, Aviaexport has already placed other Tu-144 advertising in U.S. trade publications to appear prior to the Paris Air Show.

Now Proxmire is saying that Congress had been gulled by the Pentagon in its development of the so-called "electronic battlefield," we recalled that Proxmire was a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee. We suggested that he should have seen the unclassified testimony on the electronic developments and could have obtained the classified data before the committee voted approval.

Now Proxmire is saying that it is an exercise in "doublethink" for the so-called Food for Peace Program to generate funds with which foreign governments have bought war materials here. Once again, he says in outraged innocence, Congress has been kept in the dark.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Stomach Cramps

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In all seriousness, I am curious to know about the analgesic properties of ordinary kitchen nutmeg to relieve stomach cramps from a spastic colon and stomach flu.

Of spiced mustard, cloves and nutmeg have the greatest irritating qualities. This irritating property accounts for to a friend several years ago, to promote release of digestive juices, increase the motility (activity) of the stomach, and indirectly thus help the release of gas and in that way reduce bloating and cramps.

A teaspoonful of nutmeg is a carminative value. It can cause excessive irritation of the stomach lining. If you are going to use it in the future, I suggest trying a smaller dose to see if it won't suffice.

I offer this to try to answer your question — and to explain a little bit of how the stomach and digestive tract can respond to stimulation.

I don't intend it as advocating the use of nutmeg as a remedy for cramps or indigestion. In deed, any continued use could cause enough irritation to do more harm than good — and too much stomach motility can lead to real distress. People with ulcers are told to avoid spicy foods. That's why. Too much motility increases their troubles.

Andrus omissions cited

BOISE (UPI) — In a response to Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' state of the state message Wednesday, Senate Majority Leader Wayne Kidwell, R-Bolso, said in failing to mention several areas "the governor has raised the question as to whether he stands behind his oft-quoted campaign statements."

Kidwell, who rose in the Senate on a point of personal privilege to respond to the address delivered Monday, said Andrus was to be "complemented for the bold comprehensiveness with which he has attempted to meet his responsibility" and said in many areas Andrus had suggested "realistic solutions."

However, Kidwell said, in certain areas Andrus had failed to mention solutions to problems. Kidwell's remarks included:

— A statement by Andrus there are too many state agencies and there is room for consolidation.

But, Kidwell said, "By his failing to mention where we can consolidate or which agencies duplicate others, we can only assume that we will receive this guidance in his budget message."

Andrus is scheduled to deliver his executive budget to the legislature Friday.

It may once again go through a legislative session with no positive action being taken."

Kidwell added the farm crisis demands "more from the governor than the issuance of a command performance directive to the commissioners of agriculture to travel extensively around the county to attend railroad rate hearings, electric rate hearings and federal congressional hearings."

Kidwell added the Republican "pledge a progressive, hard-working 1971 legislative session of which the final result must be the providing of responsible government to the people of our state."

Senate Minority Leader John V. Evans, D-Malad, commanded the majority for its statement reviewing the governor's message.

"I say we have a governor with a great leadership potential. The people know that he must be given time. You can look forward to a fine four years on the second floor," Evans said.

"You can be assured he has a program of priorities when he presents his message Friday," Evans said. "He said he was faced with poor economic conditions and we will have to culture giving it voice," he said. During a morning meeting today, a Senate committee voted to introduce legislation which would allow county commissioners sitting on a board of equalization to grant certain property tax exemptions on the basis of extreme hardship.

My Lai murder defense rests

MCPHERSON, Ga. (UPI) — The defense in the My Lai court-martial of Sgt. Charles E. Hutto rested today after introducing into evidence the oath Hutto took when he enlisted in the Army — to obey "the orders of the officers appointed over me."

The 22-year-old GL from Tallulah, La., is charged with intent to commit murder and assault by firing his rifle at not fewer than six civilians during an infantry sweep that American forces made through the Vietnamese village of My Lai on March 16, 1968.

Hutto's attorneys called nine witnesses, but did not put Hutto on the stand; the main thrust of the defense testimony was that whatever Hutto did at My Lai, he was doing on orders from Capt. Ernest L. Medina, who told his troops that My Lai and its occupants were to be wiped from the face of the map.

With the jury out of the room, Judge Kenneth A. Howard, an Army colonel, discussed with the prosecution and defense today the instructions he will give to the jurors Thursday following closing arguments.

He said he will rule that the order given by Medina was illegal as a matter of law.

"But," he said, "I will leave it to the court to determine if it was manifestly illegal," so he could be sentenced up to 20 years on the obviously illegal that any reasoning soldier would have recognized it as such.

Howard said he would instruct the jury to apply a reasonable man under those conditions know the order was illegal.

The jury, he said, would be given three choices: find Hutto guilty of assault with intent to commit murder; guilty of assault with a deadly weapon, or not guilty. He could be sentenced up to 20 years on the obviously illegal that any reasoning soldier would have recognized it as such.

Howard said he would instruct the jury to apply a reasonable man under those conditions know the order was illegal.

The prosecution called only four witnesses, none of whom testified to seeing Hutto open fire at villagers during the My Lai operation.

Estimates have varied, but between 102 and 310 civilians were reportedly killed during the alleged massacre at My Lai.

Ebsen on road with challenge

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Buddy Ebsen attended a local stage presentation of "Resebloom" and was so thoroughly repelled by a putrid scene he got up and walked out of the theater.

"It was the picket, must disgusting thing I've ever seen on the stage," Ebsen said furiously.

Instead of simply carpings about the play's vulgarity and lack of taste, Buddy has chosen to do something about it.

"I told myself surely we can do better things than that in the theater," he said in the gloomy rehearsal stage on Wilshire Boulevard.

"So I'm hitting the road for two weeks in a play that I think will bring some humor, love, a little sex and the good things in life instead of the sick ones."

The play is "The Apple of His Eyes," in which the late Walter Huston starred some 25 years ago.

Ebsen appeared in the play for a week last August in Wichita, Kan., and was a roaring success.

He opens this week in St. Louis and will travel on to Cincinnati, St. Paul, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, New Haven, Wilmington, Baltimore and Philadelphia.

"This play will give audiences a choice to see the joyful, entertaining things—instead of the junk that only 10 years ago people only told their psychiatrists."

Buddy's mission is more of a challenge than anything else.

He is an extraordinarily wealthy man with a television show, "The Beverly Hillbillies," and business investments that would preclude working in the theater.

In "The Apple of His Eyes," he portrays a man of middle years who falls in love with a girl in her 20s. It is essentially a comedy with overtones of drama and rural homilies.

Buddy interrupted himself to go on stage for rehearsal. His performance was as different from Jed Clampett of the "Hillbillies" as farce from tragedy.

Ebsen completed the season's episodes of his CBS-TV series and could indulge himself in smiling or fishing from his Newport Beach, Calif., home. But he has his reasons for working.

"I originally came from the theater," he said. "I feel very much alive on stage."

WASHINGTON (UPI) "The Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance" is a book that can give taxpayers the screaming meemies.

Published by the White House Office of Management and Budget, this massive compendium describes the different loan and grant programs under which federal money is ladled out to states, cities, institutions and individuals.

The latest edition, just out, lists about 1,200 separate and distinct programs of federal aid, administered by 141 different departments, offices, agencies, boards and bureaus.

That many of these federal programs probably overlap, duplicate and even contradict each other, administration officials readily concede. The trouble is, there are so many of them and new ones are added so rapidly, no one in the government really knows which ones are redundant. Some veteran officials of the Office of Management and Budget estimate privately upwards of $10 billion a year is being wasted on federal programs that could be eliminated with no great harm to the public interest.

President Nixon took office with a commendable determination to weed out some of the more egregious boondoggles. But he has discovered, as did many presidents before him, that this is easier said than done. In fact, his record to date has been enough to discourage the stoutest-hearted economist. During the six months since the last updating of the catalog, 18 programs have been eliminated—but 33 new ones have been added.

In his State of the Union message to Congress next week, Nixon will propose a radically different approach to the whole problem of channeling federal funds into areas where they are needed to deal with urgent social and economic problems.

He will recommend what he calls "revenue-sharing" on a major scale. Basically, this is a system under which the federal government would distribute large blocks of money to states and cities, without telling them exactly how they must spend it. In other words, the enormously efficient taxing structure of the federal government would be used to raise the money that states and cities desperately need.

This is a noble idea that can serve two good purposes. First, it can save states and cities from bankruptcy, which is an imminent peril to more than a few of them right now. Second, it can restore decision-making powers, hitherto centralized in Washington, to those levels of government which are closest to the people.

The hitch is that revenue-sharing, on a scale large enough to do any real good, will be economically feasible only if accompanied by a sharp cutback in the specific category aid programs that have proliferated in the past 25 years. It won't be easy to do. But nothing less will put a stop to the ridiculous spectacle of the U.S. government leaving great needs unmet while frittering away billions on a vast variety of pet projects which persistent congressmen have managed over the years to embed in the federal budget.

A statue of Che Guevara, hero of Cuba's Communist revolution, stands in public park in Santiago, Chile. It was dedicated last Nov. 8, by coincidence just five days after Dr. Salvador Allende Gossens took office as Chile's Marxist president, first to be elected in the American hemisphere.

It was a coincidence that one of Allende's first official acts was to extend recognition to Cuba and to accompany it with moves to improve ties with other Communist states, including increased trade with North Korea and Red China.

Well within the pattern, then, was the welcome extended by Chile to the 70 political prisoners released by Brazil in exchange for the life of kidnapped Swiss Ambassador Giovanni Enrico Bucher.

But these events, along with the fact Chile has joined Cuba, Mexico and Algeria in accepting former political prisoners freed through political kidnappings, are surface waves still not wholly indicative of the course to be followed either by Allende or by Chile.

Allende's predecessor, left-of-center President Eduardo Frei had accepted former political prisoners from Bolivia and helped them transit to Mexico and Cuba without unduly upsetting his relations with the United States.

Frei also had led the way to breaking the hemispheric quarantine on Castro Cuba by agreeing to sell foodstuffs to Cuba.

More sweepers hitting streets

NEW YORK (UPI) One of the faster growing manufacturing industries in the world is mechanical sweepers—machines to clean streets and factory floors.

Its global volume is at least $15 million and growing at 15 per cent a year. Three American companies dominate the street sweeper business although many firms around the globe make factory sweepers.

Younger Americans are surprised when I tell them that as recently as the late 1940s, the streets of American cities were cleaned by armies of "whitewings," men with brooms and wheeled trash cans," says Gil Wayne, head of Wayne Industries, Inc., of Pomona, Calif., the biggest maker of sweepers.

Wayne said New York, with several million cars parked in the streets day and night, was virtually the last U.S. city to go to mechanical street sweeping. "The city administration said it couldn't be done until we suggested the alternate side of the street parking law," says Wayne. "I guess a lot of New Yorkers would like to wring my neck for that."

Eigen Sweeper Co. of Elgin, Ill., and Mobil Sweeper Division at Los Angeles of American Hoist & Derrick Co. are Wayne's chief competitors in street sweeping machines. Wayne has plants in Canada,

Cigarette tax backed

BOISE (UPI) — The House Revenue and Taxation Committee decided to take another look Wednesday at a proposed cigarette tax to finance the new but unimplemented office of state fire marshal.

The committee instructed its attorney, Thomas Frost, to work over a proposal considered by the legislature last year and remove technical flaws prior to possible printing of the bill.

Homer Taylor of the Idaho State Fire School Association and Boise Fire Chief David Perry both urged the committee to give serious consideration to the measure which would impose a one cent per carton tax on cigarettes.

Such a tax, they said, would have raised $70,000 in 1970 — just enough to implement the office of fire marshal. As written, the proposal calls for placement of any receipts beyond $76,000 back into the general fund.

"This is a program we need financed," Taylor said. "Idaho is one of the few states that doesn't have an active fire marshal's office."

He said that after March 1, firemen no longer will be able to look to insurance companies, for instance, to supply them with arson investigators.

"Arson is becoming more prevalent in Idaho each year," Taylor said.

He defended the idea of taxing cigarettes to pay for administration of a fire marshal's office.

"Cigarettes cause nationwide approximately 34 per cent of the fires, both large and small," Taylor said. "We've discussed various methods of financing and this seems best."

Memphite, the Tax Committee directed Frost to prepare legislation to return the responsibility for projecting state revenues to the Tax Committee from the Interim Fiscal-Budget Committee. In doing so, the committee also directed that the bill include sufficient funds to hire both in-house and outside staff help to ensure more accurate forecasting of state revenues.

Vice Chairman John Edwards, R-Council, acting in absence of Chairman Allen Larsen, R-Blackfoot, said both the Finance and Appropriations Committees are "eager for legislation to return revenue projections to this committee."

"Can we condition it on having a reasonable amount of staff both in and out of house?" Rep. William Onweller, R-Bonner, asked.

Onweller estimated it would take approximately $10,000 to do a proper job.

At present, the legislature has a forecast of $143 million in general fund revenue for the next fiscal year. It was made by Legislative Auditor James A. Dofenbach, an employee of the Fiscal Budget Committee.

Rep. Harold Reid, D-Craigmont, said he did not believe that revenue projections should be left in the hands of "one person." He said the committee needs professional help and legal help but that he hesitates to put it into the same bill, for fear the Senate would kill it.

Onweller said he felt it absolutely necessary to put it into the same bill.

BOISE (UPI) — With legislation only trickling in, Idaho's lawmakers returned to their chambers today to hear more committee work one day before Gov. Cecil D. Andrus releases his executive budget.

At Wednesday's end, only a few pieces of legislation had been introduced from committees and from individual legislators. Sen. Wayne Kidwell, R-Boise, majority leader, said no administrative legislation had been received.

Friday, Andrus will make public his executive requests, but has already said no tax increase will be requested.

The Joint Finance Appropriations Committee — which began its budget hearings one week before the legislature convened — heard Wednesday from vocational education agencies, the College of Southern Idaho and North Idaho Junior College.

Scheduled for today are hearings on the Department of Education and Vocational Rehabilitation.

Also today, the Senate Judiciary Rules and House Committee on Judiciary Rules and Rules Committee will hold a joint hearing on Criminal Code revision.

Kidwell, rising on a point of personal privilege, gave the Republican answer Wednesday to Andrus' State-of-the-State address. He said Andrus had offered many "realistic solutions" to some problems facing the state, but had been ambiguous in solutions in other areas.

The governor has raised the question as to whether he stands behind his oft-quoted campaign statements, Kidwell added.

Committee work done Wednesday included:

An announcement from Rep. E. Don Copple, R-Boise, before the House Judiciary Committee he would introduce legislation to provide guideline for rock festivals and other large gatherings;

A decision in the Senate Agricultural Affairs Committee to study further a bill which would require blanket acceptance of all federal regulations formulated under the Wholesome Meat Act;

A decision by the House Revenue and Tax Committee to reexamine a proposed cigarette tax to finance the office of State Fire Marshal;

And, an agreement by the Senate Local Government and Taxation Committee to introduce legislation which would allow county commissioners sitting as a board of equalization to grant certain property tax exemptions on the basis of extreme hardships.

Friday, Andrus will make public his executive requests, but has already said no tax increase will be requested.

Divorce law change asked

BOISE (UPI) — Rep. E. Don Copple, R-Boise, suggested Wednesday the legislature broaden grounds for divorce in order to control rock festivals.

Copple told the House Judiciary Committee he would like to see the lawmakers add a ground for divorce "irreconcilable differences."

He noted the legislature in California has done this and said by "adding this as grounds for divorce we could do away with a great deal of fiction we now have to go through."

Rep. Patricia McDermott, D-Pocatello, said she felt Copple had a point. She noted that sometimes a woman seeking divorce must complain that her husband "eats crackers in bed and makes her nervous."

Both Copple and Miss McDermott are lawyers in private life.

Copple told the committee he also will bring to it a bill which would provide for guidelines for rock festivals and other similar large gatherings.

Miss McDermott said she had reservations about legislation such as this, that it sounded somewhat "ridiculous."

Rep. Edward Rice, R-Boise, said he felt perhaps there should be legislation to assure there are adequate health and sanitation facilities and persons not whenever there are large gatherings. But he said he did not believe the legislation should be tied to specific numbers of people, saying in some communities "there could be problems with 100."

Rice said he saw a festival of this type in California and that it created severe health problems. He said he saw some youngsters in narcotic shock and that there were not enough physicians to treat them.

Miss McDermott said she could see health restrictions if the gathering is to run more than one day. But she said she was concerned that it might become a "reaction to what the kids are doing" rather than legislation to protect public health.

Committee members also discussed changing of their temporary rules in preparation of permanent rules for the House for this legislature. They noted in doing so there is a conflict between the Senate and House version of the present joint rules.

Miss McDermott also spoke out against what she termed "secret sessions" being planned by the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee. She and other committee members expressed objection to exclusion of any legislator from deliberations of any legislative committee.

Independent candidates placed in the primary ballot must receive 10 per cent of the total vote cast for the office for which they are a candidate in order to be placed on the general election ballot.

Also under the proposal, election boards may declare polls closed at designated hour, but those waiting in turn to cast ballots will be allowed to vote.

Cadet Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alma G. Anderson of Burley, was selected for promotion on the basis of his academic excellence, outstanding leadership ability and potential as an Air Force officer. He is majoring in electrical engineering.

TWIN FALLS — Tech. Sgt. Leslie D. BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — The University of California has received a $600,000 grant from the National Science Foundation for education, training, research and public advisory service in the utilization of the oceans.

As one of two new grant institutions in California, the university has mapped a far-ranging program to be carried out, including exploring the possibility of harnessing the vast heat of large power plants, now generally considered a pollutant, to create artificial upwelling of deep nutrient-rich waters of the ocean.

TEHRAN (UPI) — Crucial secret talks between Western oil companies and Persian Gulf oil-exporting countries broke down today, threatening the oil supply for most of the Western world.

Iranian Finance Minister Jamshid Aruzgar and Iraqi and Saudi Arabian delegates were returning home and would file reports with the Organization of Oil Exporting Countries (OPEC) headquarters in Vienna.

But he said another session might be called for next Tuesday if the Western companies reconsider their stand and agree to look into OPEC demands.

The Persian Gulf countries, which produce 80 per cent of the oil used in the West, are demanding a larger cut of the oil profits.

He said this year the city is taking a full new look at the salary scale which has been in use for many years without change.

Councilmen Tom Nelson, Winston Jones and John Christoffersen were named by Mayor Frank Feldman to a special salary study committee some time ago. At their request, Milar collected comparable figures on salaries of public and private industry employees over the state.

One of the problems of the present scale he said, is after an employee has been with the city for one year as, for example, a police officer, he has acquired considerable experience but is not yet ready for any notable salary boost.

Soviets protest treatment

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Kremlin's bitterest political dissidents joined hard line Communists today in protesting harassment of Soviet diplomats in America. They said it makes things tougher for Soviet Jews.

The protest came from the small Moscow dissident community which seldom, if ever, has concurred with the Soviet leadership on policies concerning the treatment of Jews or migration from the Soviet Union. But men who are accepted as spokesman for the dissidents said this case was an exception.

"They (Jewish militants in the United States) are opening the road to anti-Semitism here, and they are making it harder for Jews to emigrate," one of the leaders said.

He said the Soviets allow a few Jews to leave periodically for Israel. With the current state of tension, he said few applicants stand a chance of approval.

The dissident community planned to issue an open letter today or Thursday stating their position, he said.

Soviet anger over actions of Jewish militants in the United States resulted in raging editorials and a campaign of intimidation of Moscow's Americans.

Over the weekend Russians slashed tires, splintered windshields and bullied U.S. businessmen in an intimidation campaign.

Tuesday, Tass, in an acidly worded editorial prepared for this morning's newspapers, accused "the United States" of plotting with "Zionist Ku Klux Klan men" to harass Soviet citizens in America.

The Soviet news agency said "The unbridled and Soviet campaign staged by the Soviets in America is being conducted with the knowledge and connivance of official American authorities."

New deal for Indians?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The old men are all killed, the little children are freezing to death. My heart is sick and sad. From where the sun now stands, I will fight no more forever.

Chief Joseph of the Nez Perce, who spoke those bitter words of despair, surrendered to U.S. troops on Oct. 1877. His capitulation ended the longest war in U.S. history, a 27-year conflict in which the government broke for all time the power of the proud Indian tribes who were the original inhabitants of this continent.

For nearly a century since that time, America's 700,000 Indians have suffered the traditional fate of losers in war. They have had their lands expropriated, their rights ignored. Worst of all, perhaps, they have been subjected to patronizing kind of racial prejudice.

Movies, books and television have helped to mold a stereotype of the Indian as either a screaming savage or a grunting-blanket salesman. In some areas, discrimination against red men is even more pronounced than discrimination against black men.

Today, the average income among Indians is $1,500 a year — far below the official poverty level. Infant mortality is three times the national average. The average life span of Indians is only 42 — a third less than the national average.

No one accused President Nixon of exaggeration when he told Congress last July 8 that "the first Americans — the Indians — are the most deprived and isolated minority group in our nation."

"This condition is the heritage of centuries of injustice," Nixon said. "From the time of their first contact with European settlers, the American Indians have been oppressed and brutalized, deprived of their ancestral lands and denied the opportunity to control their own destiny. Even the federal programs which are intended to meet their needs have frequently proved to be ineffective and demeaning."

At Nixon's request, Congress established a new national Indian youth, on and off reservations, are constantly encountering frustration as they try to come to terms with the white world around them. Indians complain that nothing they do seems worthy of recognition outside the Indian world.

The Indians' battle for equality currently is being waged partly in the courts.

Office of Indian opportunity to make sure Indians are getting a fair break from the government. The 16-member council is headed by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and has eight Indian members.

Now the Indian can claim a more concrete victory — one that suggests the white man is at long last beginning to think in terms of making amends for his "ruthless confiscation of Indian land."

President Nixon signed into law, at the very end of 1970, a bill to restore to the Taos Pueblo Indians 48,000 acres of land around Blue Lake in New Mexico. The U.S. government had expropriated the lands to create a national forest in 1906. The Indians were never reconciled to the seizure, since the lands were considered sacred and played an indispensable part in the Taos Pueblo religious life.

Millions of acres of former Indian lands are still in dispute. The Pit River Tribe in California alone is demanding return of an area the size of Connecticut.

Vince Deloria Jr., author of Indian manifesto "Custer Died for Your Sins," says it is ironic for presidents to speak of the necessity of honoring this country's commitments in places such as Southeast Asia, when right here in this country, "The U.S. government and the states have broken innumerable treaties with Indians of various tribes."

Indians youths, on and off reservations, are constantly encountering frustration as they try to come to terms with the white world around them. Indians complain that nothing they do seems worthy of recognition outside the Indian world.

The Indians' battle for equality currently is being waged partly in the courts.

Tax break 'not final'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury, denying it was prompted by a legal challenge, announced Wednesday that President Nixon's $4.6 billion tax break for business was only a proposal—not a final order—and would require public hearings.

Bombing shocks Britons

LONDON (UPI) — Two bomb explosions wrecked the home of Employment Minister Robert Carr Tuesday night and police called it an apparent assassination attempt. The attack sent shock waves through the country where political violence is almost unknown.

British newspapers asked seriously today whether the incident means terrorism and violence soon may become a part of the political scene in this country as they long have been in the United States, Latin America and some European countries.

The bombings came at the end of nationwide demonstrations against Carr's industrial relations bill—which unions claim is pro-management. But Victor Feather, head of the huge Tridem Union Congress, said the act was "obviously that of a criminal lunatic" and that he deplored it.

Police said two "killer dose" explosive charges—in black plastic bags smashed first the side-door and kitchen area of the cabinet minister's $100,000 Georgian mansion in North London and that a second blast blew out the front doors and windows of the house, breaking windows in his car 20 feet away. A third, unexploded gelignite charge was found in the front garden.

"It looks as though whoever did this was out to kill," a police spokesman said.

Asks pressure ...

ADMINISTRATOR William D. Ruckelshaus of the Environmental Protection Agency called on all Americans to bring "pressure against the government at all levels" to control pollution. He said that every citizen must "participate in the development of a new environmental ethic." He made the comments at a luncheon meeting of the National Press Club in Washington, D. C. (UPI)

Hawaiian senator's aide indicted in fraud fix

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An aide to Sen. Hiram Fong, R-Hawaii, was indicted by a federal grand jury Wednesday on charges he conspired to fix a securities fraud case involving long-time underworld figure John "Johnny Dio" Dioguardi for payment of $200,000.

Cited in the indictment handed down in U.S. District Court in New York City was Fong's administrative assistant, Robert T. Carson, 64, of Arlington, Va. Also indicted before the same grand jury were two New Yorkers, Edward Adams, 60, and Joseph Bald, 41.

Neither Fong nor his office had any immediate comment on the development. One of the four counts against Carson was that he perjured himself in testifying before the same grand jury which returned the indictments.

Dio, already serving a five-year jail sentence for bankruptcy fraud, was among 16 persons indicted on Nov. 19 on charges of securities fraud, conspiracy and extortion.

He has long been recognized as a member of the hierarchy of organized crime and has been cited time and again by Senate rackets investigators.

Three other alleged members of underworld crime organizations were named in the securities fraud action brought against Dio. He has been described by federal officials as an important element in organized crime."

Auto strike talk nearing deadline

DETROIT (UPI) — United Auto Workers and Chrysler Corp. negotiators worked on a new, three-year contract under a now-a-blanket Wednesday with strike deadline six days away.

Unless agreement is reached by 10 a.m. next Tuesday, the union has said its 120,000 members at Chrysler's American and Canadian plants would walk out at that time.

The news blackout—a traditional sign that serious bargaining is under way—was imposed by both sides Tuesday. Such a blackout also is an indication of the pace of bargaining has picked up.

Leonard Woodcock, president of the union, said Chrysler "obviously" had adopted a "more businesslike attitude" toward negotiations since the union set the strike deadline Monday.

The biggest difference between the two sides is the issue of retroactive pay increases for the union's Chrysler members.

When it presented a new offer to the union last Thursday, Chrysler proposed to match the settlements the union won from General Motors

Corp. after a 67-day strike and from Ford Motor Co. without a strike.

Those settlements give average 13 per cent pay increases, unlimited cost of living allowances to hedge against inflation and $500 per month pensions after 30 years service at age 56 in the final year of the pact.

Joyce Goodman, Minns marry

GOODING — Joyce Ann Goodman, daughter of Mrs. George Stringer, Gooding, and Ernest Minns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Minns, Clinton Springs, N.Y., were married Jan. 2 in a double ring ceremony at the LDS Murtough Ward Chapel, with Bishop Roger Tolman officiating. Jay Goodman gave the prayer.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her brother, Dean Goodman, Leupp, Ariz., Mrs. Earl Watts was organist.

The bride designed both her gown, made of white satin, and her veil, made of tulle with wide lace. Her bridal bouquet was of white and blue carnations and blue baby's breath.

Matron of honor and also goluot was Gaye Goodman, Salt Lake City, sister of the bride. Maid of honor was Kathleen Goodman, Hansen, niece of the bride.

Ronald Goodman, Hansen, brother of the bride, served as best man. Flower girls were Chi Kay and Anita Goodman, nieces of the bride. Ringbearer was Nathan Goodman, the bride's nephew. Sonya Goodman, a niece, distributed thank-you scrolls.

Jamie Goodman, Murtough, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book. Gary Goodman, Murtough, the bride's cousin, and James Goodman, nephew of the bride, a student at BYU, Provo, were ushers.

A reception honoring the couple was held after the ceremony. Serving at the refreshment table were Mrs. Clyde Goodman, Murtough; Mrs. Jay Goodman, Bountiful, Utah, and Mrs. Betty Barker and Mrs. Harold Peterson, Murtough.

Girls serving the double quartet tables were Vicki, Julie, Valli, Judy and Joy Goodman and Lynette Stringer, all cousins of the bride.

The three-tiered cake was from Utah, Arizona, Idaho Falls, Jerome, Twin Falls, topped with a corsage of blue Gooding, Hansen, Provo, and white carnations, com- Oakley and Burley.

The couple left for California a week ago today to reside in the same scheme of the ceremony. In Jr. 4 where they will reside long. What is it—three seasons? If it is back on NBC for another season, next fall ... Well, it won't be the first time I've been a minority of one.

TV notes Blended sugar

NEW YORK (UPI)—Some comments, caustic and otherwise, on network programming this season:

If I see another variety special on which the guests are the perennial Jack Benny, Bob Hope, Sammy Davis Jr., Lucille Ball, and so many others—you know them well—I'll ... Well, I'll simply turn off the set.

For my money, NBC ruined "The Virginian" by the changes put in this season. Whatever the excuse for his presence, Stewart Granger, good actor though he is, doesn't belong, and the changing of the title to "The Man of Shiloh" is no improvement. Bring back John McIntyre.

An affectionate buss to Shirley Jones for her work in ABC's new "The Partridge Family" series, which seems to be popular. This is a genuinely talented doll in the same league with ABC's Florence Henderson of "The Brady Family." You may not care for this homey type of situation comedy series, but these two singing actresses, with fine Broadway stage credentials, are out of the usual television rut.

However much you may like Jackie Gleason, CBS has done itself and the comedian no special favor—aside from making money—by its mid-season programming of reruns of reruns of "The Honeymooners," one-hour musical shows. The idea seems to be that his is a deal leading to a new Gleason series next fall. The new series should have begun last fall.

"Oliver" ...

DANCER MARK GOLAY who will assist director Brad Hickerson in choreography for "Oliver," announces selection of eight dancers for the show.

"Oliver" dancers named

TWIN FALLS—Dancers selected to appear in "Oliver" are announced by Mark Golay, Twin Falls High School senior, who is assisting director Brad Hickerson in choreography for the show. The dancers besides Golay are Laurie Wright, Linda Lincoln, Terri Wood, Jo Vincent, David Bostler and Roy Graybill. There are two specific dance numbers, "Consider Yourself" and "Who Would Buy," in the Dilettante Group's new production.

Hickerson is using story telling to express the ideas of the period in which "Oliver" lived. Instead of a large dance group he is supplementing dance numbers with the chorus. Each person in the chorus will be a specific character, representing a distinct life style of the period, Hickerson said.

Golay has studied with Beverly Hackney of Twin Falls for three years. He danced in "Review" and "Irma La Douce," in summer stock in Lewiston, under the direction of Dilettante's "My Fair Lady" and "Mame."

Hickerson is a graduate of Wayne State College, Wayne, Neb., where he danced in "Brigadoon" and "Kiss Me, Kate." He also danced in the Dilettante's "My Fair Lady."

In summer stock he was dancing in "Roor of the Grenze Paint, Smell of the Crowd."

"Oliver" will be staged the first two weekends in March at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Center.

The company expects the new product to be helpful as a possible source of calories following a kidney transplant.

Buying a new appliance? Be sure it fits the setting in which you plan to use it. Length, width, weight and clearance are important. But also check out your home's power supply, seeing that it fits in with the specifications of the particular machine you buy.

Protect skin from dirty air

NEW YORK, N.Y.—Smoggy dirty air is a factor in most girls' beauty lives that tends to get side-stepped, especially if you live in or near a fair sized city; you'd almost rather not think of the pollution levels. It's too depressing.

There are some ways to protect your skin from dirty air—a moisturizer and even your makeup helps. Skin also needs scrupulous cleansing to get rid of accumulations of dirt. A herbal steam treat—this one from the January issue of Glamour Magazine—is one good way to get your skin really clean.

Follow this simple step-by-step routine weekly for fresh, rosy, really clean skin. Glamour used a prepared herbal mixture, but you can make your own from camomile, peppermint, basil, sage, cloves and eucalyptol. It's better to mix two different herbs.

Use a total of one tablespoon of herbs to a quart of water. Put the water and herbs to boil, and in the meantime, cleanse your face as you normally do. No. 1. Now, using the same container you boiled the water in or a Pyrex bowl, put your face over the steam, no closer than nine to eleven inches from the container, getting closer as it cools.

No. 2. Remember, you can seal yourself if the steam is too hot and your face is too close. It's best to wait about a minute after the water stops boiling. Use a towel to form a tent over your head to direct steam to your face. Do all this in a comfortable place so you can sit five to seven minutes.

No. 3. After steaming, use any good deep pore cleansing mask. You can buy good ones in most department stores. Follow the directions for the mask. Rinse mask off and splash face with cool water.

No. 4. Now apply a good moisturizer all over face and neck.

No. 5. Moisturizers and makeup set up a protective barrier between your skin and its environment.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: To get right down to brass tacks, I don't trust my husband. We work different hours and I think he is fooling around with another woman.

Is there some way I can get our home telephone hooked up to another telephone somewhere else so I could listen in on his telephone conversations? I would be willing to rent a motel room temporarily and have an extension telephone from our home installed there. The suspicion is driving me out of my mind. If I knew once and for all that he had another woman I could take it, but the uncertainty is killing me. How can I get proof?

LOSING MY MIND

DEAR LOSING: What you suggest is illegal, and no telephone company would assist you with your plan. Since you are willing to accept the fact that your husband has someone else, if indeed he has, I suggest you ask him.

DEAR ABBY: I wear contact lenses. I recently stayed overnight at a girl friend's house, and her little niece watched, fascinated, as I put in my contact lenses. The child had never seen anything like that before, so I very carefully explained that contact lenses were "little eyeglasses" made especially for me, and that no one should ever put anything into my eye which was not made especially for that purpose.

I made sure the child understood me because I once heard of a little child who had watched her mother put contact lenses into her eyes often. The child found a small piece of broken glass, and wanting to "imitate" her mother, she stuck the broken glass into her eye, and subsequently the child became blind in one eye.

You may think this is worth passing on, Abby. LINDA.

DEAR LINDA: Indeed I do. Thank you for writing.

DEAR ABBY: My son, who was in college, had an affair with this girl and she became pregnant. He married her to give the child a name and he had to quit college to support the child.

She continued in college, got her degree and is now teaching in the same college. They divorced shortly after the baby came.

Now my son can't finish college because of having to support the child.

This is what hurts: His ex-wife lets the child (now five years old) come to visit me and this child tells me that his mother sleeps with her boy-friends. My son has found that this is true.

Should he go before the school board where she teaches and tell them the life she's living?

I promised my dead wife I would educate our son. Please help me to make the right decision. WORRIED FATHER

DEAR FATHER: Educate your son if you are able. Giving the mother of your grandchild a black eye, or causing her to lose her job, if that is what you would hope to accomplish, wouldn't help your son any.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CONCERNED FRIEND": Don't tip off the new girlfriend. If he is as big a heel as you say he is, let her find out for herself. She will regard your "wising her up" as an exercise in sour grapes. Besides, one girl's banquet can be another girl's crumbs.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 63700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90063. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Dredge plan opposed

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Twin Falls County Parks and Recreation Commission today announced a stand opposing dredging applications on the Snake River in the vicinity of Thousand Springs.

Ed Woods, secretary, was authorized by the board to submit a resolution to the Idaho

Board of Land Commissioners urging the dredging not to be permitted because of resulting adverse conditions in the river affecting wildlife, fish and the general ecology of the scenic region.

Members also re-elected Donald Zuck, Twin Falls, chairman and named George Holmes, Twin Falls, vice-chairman and John Doerr, Twin Falls, secretary-treasurer.

Woods said work at Balanced Rock park with any remaining funds to be used to start development of a park area in Rock Creek Canyon just west of Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Woods said work at Balanced Rock is now about half completed with a shelter and tables now erected at the base of the rock.

Idaho apportionment trial issues set

BOISE (UPI) — Attorneys have agreed to three main issues for trial in federal court of a case challenging apportionment of Idaho's two congressional districts.

They also have agreed to waive a pre-trial hearing in the case. Three federal judges will hear the case as a single panel.

Issues to be decided are:

— Does a population imbalance exist between Idaho's First and Second Districts which deprives the rights of Idaho voters in congressional elections?

— Can the three-judge panel withhold judicial relief while retaining jurisdiction to give the 41st Legislature a chance to consider redistricting?

— Can a three-judge panel compel the governor of a state to exercise his discretionary function of convening a special session of the legislature to re-apportion the districts?

James F. Lyons, Coeur d'Alene, is the plaintiff in the case.

Under the 1970 census, the First Congressional district has a population of 401,194 and the Second District a population of 311,371.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus told the legislature last Monday he felt this imbalance between the two districts should be corrected by splitting Twin County between the two districts and putting Elmore County back into the second District.

A bill to transfer Legislative District 17 in Ada County as well as Elmore County to the Second District was prepared Wednesday for introduction in the legislature.

Chairman H. Fred Koch, R-Bogart, of the House State Affairs Committee said he will name a subcommittee to confer with a similar subcommittee from the Senate on the proposal.

Mothers' march planned

JEROME — The annual March of Dimes campaign for Jerome County has begun with the Mothers' March scheduled to begin Jan. 18 for one week.

Mrs. Ronald Pippitt will head the Mothers' March. Beta Sigma Phi sorority members have assisted in obtaining mothers to work their own neighborhoods for the drive.

Mrs. Forrest Hymus is county chairman for the over-all drive. Eva Mitchell is organizing the Teens Against Polio through the local schools. Plans to work rural and other county areas are being made, Mrs. Hymus said.

MOULINS, France (UPI) — A convoy of tanker-trailers towed by a giant tractor spilled 264,172 gallons of benzoquinone wine into the Acolin River Wednesday when the tractor skidded and overturned.

The wine would have filled one-million bottles.

State Patrolman Gordon Mills said Sewell was coming off Interstate 80 onto the interchange ramp with Interstate 15 when his car hit the rear of a truck driven by Warren Avery, 61, Boise, and owned by Blackline Asphalt, Boise.

The truck was loaded with 20 tons of asphalt, Mills said. Avery was not hurt and the truck was undamaged.

That's the report from most Magic Valley coal dealers — there's barely enough to go around, at least for the present. And there's none to spare.

Many coal dealers are grimly anticipating a permanent slump in business after this grim winter. "There'll be a lot of oil and gas burner conversions next summer," one dealer said.

But with one exception, all dealers said they are getting in small amounts at a time. The single exception, a Jerome dealer, refused to converse with the Times-News on the subject, saying that the news of the coal shortage had only "made everybody think we're heels."

Oil dealers report "no problem" with supplies. Most distributors utilize pipelines from their refineries, eliminating highway transport problems.

The Intermountain Gas Co., sole distributor of natural gas, also had no problem with supply so far this winter.

Jerome bonfire Saturday

JEROME — Newly reorganized Jerome Jaycees will hold a Christmas tree bonfire Saturday at the Jerome Fairgrounds at 2:20 p.m.

The club members have collected 600 discarded trees during the past week for the fire. Larry Shaffer, president, said the city of Jerome will furnish free hot dogs. Hot chocolate and hot coffee will be served by the Jaycees at 5 cents per cup. All youngsters are invited to attend and provisions are being made for roasting of hot dogs in areas some distance from the large fire for safety.

Any resident whose tree has not been collected may take the tree to the fair grounds and leave it inside the main gate.

The fire has been approved as no "city ordinance" has been adopted prohibiting such fires.

Shaffer also said the newly utilized Jaycees are seeking new members and persons are invited to contact him regarding membership.

Cemetery board picks Churchman

BOISE (UPI) — House members approved 67-0 Wednesday a bill appropriating unexpended funds of the 40th Legislature to the 41st legislature.

The measure, which goes now to the Senate, is the first bill passed by the House at this session of the Legislature.

Chairman Jenkins Palmer, R-Malad, of the House Appropriations Committee said there is a balance of $400,000 to $500,000 from the 40th Legislature. He said this will be spent on legislative salaries and expenses until it is exhausted and then a new appropriation will be made — sometime later in the session.

The bill, just introduced Wednesday, was approved under suspension of rules.

JEROME — W. B. Churchman was re-elected president of the Jerome Cemetery Board and Cleo Ambrose was named secretary replacing Joe Shirley who has resigned, it was announced today by district officials.

Guy Simmons was retained as treasurer. Elected to the board of directors were Ted Dahl and Harold Jenkins. Re-elected to the board were H. E. (Cap) Wilson, Jenkins, Johnson and Diehl.

Equipment purchased

BUHL — Band instruments, a scoreboard, and bleacher equipment have been purchased by the Hagerman, Buhl and Castleford school districts with funds contributed by the Farmers National Bank, Buhl, J. P. Hamilton, bank president, said today.

Hamilton said stockholders of the bank agreed to donate $1,000 to each of the districts, which are served by the bank, for purchase of permanent equipment.

Trustees at Hagerman purchased an electric scoreboard to be installed in the high school gymnasium there.

officials plan to use the money to buy materials to build another set of bleachers at the athletic field for use by supporters of visiting teams.

Earlier, the Castleford Men's Club constructed a set on the home team's side of the field.

Buhl trustees used the money to purchase two trombones, a tuba and recording equipment for the music department.

Robert Swanson, music director, said the instruments and equipment are being used now.

Hamilton said the directors and stockholders of the bank were happy to reinvest part of the profits in the area where those profits originated.

Van Orman named Jerome chairman

JEROME — John Van Orman was elected chairman of the Jerome Board of County Commissioners, succeeding Cleo Ambrose, it was announced today.

Van Orman is serving his second term as county commissioner and is a member of the Idaho Board of Health and executive board of the Idaho Association of County Clerks and Commissioners. He also serves on the South Central Community Action Agency board which includes representation from Jerome, Twin Falls and Cassia counties. Van Orman, in viewing county problems, said one of the major problems facing the board involves welfare programs. Other members of the commission are Ambrose and Claude Barnard, both beginning new terms as commissioners after being re-elected in November.

Craters visitors set mark

ARCO — A record 223,502 visitors were counted at the Craters of the Moon National Monument during 1970, Superintendent said today.

The attendance figure was 24,112 more than during 1969, noted, when 199,390 persons visited the geological area. This compares with the previous record year of 1967 when 214,507 visitors were recorded.

Popularity of the Craters, Idaho's only national monument, is evidenced by travel trends since 1950, the superintendent said.

In 1950 there were 51,178 visits; 1955 — 107,750; 1960 — 134,276; 1965 — 183,866, and up to 223,502 this past year.

Hodge will be in charge of the station while Saxvik attends the current Idaho legislative session. Saxvik was elected senator from Cassia County in the November election.

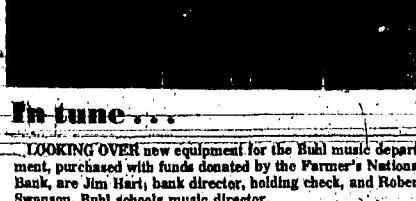

A veteran of 22 years in broadcasting, Hodge has served with NBC radio in Hollywood and with KUTV in Salt Lake City prior to joining the staff at KBAR a few years ago. Hodge is a native of Burley area.

Snow deeper

— WALLACE (UPI) — The snow depth at the Washington Water Power Co. substation at Burke here was one inch more Tuesday than at any time during last winter, officials said Tuesday.

Bill Foutz said measurements at 5 a.m. Tuesday morning showed 76 inches of snow on the ground and more was falling at that time.

Last year, the greatest snow depth at the substation was 75 inches in a measurement taken April 4.

Foutz said Tuesday's measurement was exactly double that taken for the corresponding period last year. Last year on Jan. 16 there were 38 inches of snow on the ground. WWP takes the snow-depth measurements at Burke once a week and measures water content of the snow monthly. Foutz said.

Average

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Ground-water levels at the end of December were generally about average for the Pacific Northwest but reservoir storage was above and streamflows contrasting, the Geological Survey reported today.

Eleven of the 15 key wells reporting listed levels about or near average, while four were below.

Storage in 13 major power reservoirs in the Columbia River system was 1,055,000 acre-feet more than the 10-year average, although 134,000 acre-feet less than a year ago. For 25 large irrigation reservoirs storage was 925,000 acre-feet more than a year ago, and 1,106,000 acre-feet more than average.

Streamflow ranged lower than average runoff in the northern portion, while in the Snake River basin and Wilson and Chehalis River basins, higher-than-average runoff occurred.

Low median runoff conditions prevailed elsewhere.

Firm calls bids

BURLEY — The J. R. Simplot Co. has called for bids for its proposed secondary treatment facility at its Burley-Hayburn potato-processing complex.

Pat Harwood, Caldwell, director of Simplot's public affairs, said the secondary treatment facility is the third phase of the $2 million pollution-abatement program at the complex.

The work contemplated consists of two 80-foot-diameter secondary clarifier basins, an earthen aeration basin, an electrical control building, concrete pump station, interconnecting piping, miscellaneous structures, mechanical equipment and appurtenances.

Also included, Harwood said, is the installation of several items of owner-furnished equipment, including two 80-foot clarifier mechanisms and 12 mechanical surface aerators to be installed in the aeration basin.

Cost estimate of the secondary facility is $771,000, Harwood said.

The first phase of the major project was the installation of a potato dry-peel process and the second phase was water conservation study for reclamining water.

Legion slates job meet

TWIN FALLS — The American Legion will hold a special meeting here Jan. 27 to give representatives from the 10 local posts in this district full information on the group's "Job For Veterans" program, Frank Mogensen, Twin Falls, legion commander, said today. The meeting will start at 6 p.m. at Legion hall.

Mogensen said the project is part of a nation-wide program undertaken by the legion and the U.S. Labor Department to help find jobs for the almost half-million unemployed Vietnam war veterans as well as veterans of earlier wars. President Nixon has commended the legion for this undertaking, Mogensen said.

Art Tattersall, Eden, legion district commander, will conduct the meeting. William Caldwell of the legion's Indianapolis headquarters, and William Hulet, Boise, federal veterans' employment representative for Idaho, will outline ways legionnaires can contact veterans and help them get in touch with state employment service representatives to attend the meeting to help legion members make plans for contacting all veterans in their neighborhoods.

Other legion officers taking part in the program are: Dan McClintock, Nampa, state commander; LeRoy Leback, Paul, state vice commander, and Lou Babb, Boise, state adjutant.

Similar meeting will be held in each of the legion's other eight districts by the end of January, Mogensen said.

Resort aide talks

TWIN FALLS — By 1972 recreational land development will be a large part of the $5.5 billion spent on all forms of recreation in the United States, said G.T. (Tay) Krivor, president of Resort Development Corporation, Sun Valley.

Krivor, who was in Twin Falls Tuesday night to speak to the Home Builders Association of Magic Valley, said that people are investing money in Idaho for recreational development because it is a good investment.

Besides recreation, many also want a second home for retirement. The developments range from larger resort areas to town houses and condominiums he said.

Krivor said when these projects go into construction the major part of the work is done by local builders. And with the economy as it is now the small local builder is doing an increasingly larger business than the large corporation.

The average recreation builder in the United States builds on 20 to 80 lots a year, while the large companies concentrate on one large resort complex and must invest several million dollars immediately. But by staying on a lot to lot basis the small builder has no trouble with his cash flow.

And at present, said Krivor, the most expensive building is slowing down and the less expensive recreation homes and mini-condos are being built rapidly and in greater numbers.

By 1975 more time will be spent by Americans at recreation than at work, said Krivor and many of these people will be coming to Idaho. They want to come to a clean and peaceful environment, leaving the urban sprawl behind.

Irving Altman, city patrolman said the Davis youth could have cashed the bonds as they were negotiable.

Benefit slated ...

DISTRICT 6 CHAIRMAN of the Idaho Oldtime Fiddlers Assn., Dorothy Bryson, tunes up for the benefit jamboree in Flair Jan. 23 at 7:30 p.m. to raise funds for the local American Red Cross First Aid programs. She will be one of many popular musicians from the local area taking part.

Jerome youth proves honesty

JEROME — A Jerome high school student has again proven there are honest people, Jerome police said today.

Bob Davis, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Davis, called police after finding a strongbox containing about $10,000 in negotiable bonds and a check. He found the box, which also contained valuable papers, late Monday night in front of the Jerome Funeral Chapel.

After several hours detective work by the police department it was learned the box apparently had fallen out of a truck moving the belongings of Mrs. Hugh Taylor, who is nearly married, and just moved to Jerome from Buhl.

Identification of the strongbox and the papers was hampered by the fact the bonds and an $8,000 check were made out in Mrs. Taylor's former name, Ruth Ewell. She finally was traced through a stepson in Jerome.

Irving Altman, city patrolman said the Davis youth could have cashed the bonds as they were negotiable.

Smoking clinic continues Sunday

TWIN FALLS — The five-day stop smoking clinic will begin its second series of the year at 7 p.m. Sunday at the Idaho Power Auditorium, 133 Third St. N., according to Dr. R.A. Drake, director.

Dr. Drake and his associates, Parsons, Kenneth Brown, and S. O. Francisco, have just completed a clinic in Burley attended by 41 people. They report nearly all those attending the five-day program found it effective in eliminating the smoking habit.

Residents of Kimberly, Hansen, Flair, Buhl and others in the immediate areas may attend the Twin Falls clinic. A clinic also will be conducted at Jefferson Elementary School in Jerome from Jan. 24-28 at 7 p.m. Other clinics are planned later in the year.

Anyone wishing further information may call Dr. Drake at 733-8932; Pastor Francisco at 734-2734, or Pastor Brown at 324-5330.

The clinics, sponsored by the Seventh Day Adventist Church, are free.

Hot-homes

SINGAPORE (UPI) — Every home in this island republic will have been supplied with electricity by the end of 1973. At present, electricity is limited to municipal and a few rural areas. About 180 square miles of the 225-square-mile island are considered rural.

Pollution map

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — The Danish Pollution Council plans to make a "Pollution Atlas" of the country. All local authorities have been asked to supply information on water and environment.

"The country is in a mess but before we have a full view of the situation the politicians can take no real action," said Joergen Qvist, head of the council's administration.

Taken to hospital

TWIN FALLS — A young man who was plucked up Tuesday morning on the Perrine Memorial Bridge by Twin Falls County sheriff's officers was transferred Wednesday to State Hospital South at Blackfoot.

Sheriff Paul Corder said the man, who appeared to be about 20 and under the influence of drugs, was sitting on the bridge railing, waving out over the water. He said two deputies diverted his attention while a third approached and grabbed him.

The young man, the sheriff said, had no identification on his person.

Buhl-Jerome, Musher-Tiger games highlight schedule

Buhl and Jerome could be putting all their championship hopes on one game and the Northdale Conference will have an all-alone leader as the conclusion of this weekend's

Magic Valley basketball action. A total of 23 games will be played by area teams but the two key ones so far as conference standings go, will come up Saturday night. Buhl will be at Jerome while Camas County hosts Richfield.

Jerome is in a tight spot having dropped both South Central Idaho Conference openers, and a loss to Buhl

CSI begins conference year, entertains Dixie and Snow

The College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles open their quest for a fourth straight Intermountain Collegiate Athletic Conference basketball championship this weekend in entertaining Dixie College of St. George, Utah, and Snow College of Ephraim, Utah.

The Eagles, carrying a 14-0 record and ranked seventh in the nation, will complete the bulk of their home season with the state. Starting with a Jan. 21 trip to Ricks College, the Eagles will be away nine of the last 14 games before traveling to Coeur d'Alene to play in the regional tournament.

Dixie prevented CSI from going through the ICAC undefeated last year, tripling the Eagles 0-52 in a game at St. George. Snow College, which participated in the national tournament last year, gave the Eagles about their best test at home in 1970.

Dixie returns three of its starters from last year at 6-6, 6-4 and 6-5.

"I think they will be about as tough a team as there is in the conference," coach Jerry Hale says. "Last year we had trouble with them up here until Hegens hit about three bombers with a few minutes left to break us away. Down there their big men got hot on us and they really put it to us (0-82). They run an offense similar to the one Utah used against us . . . take the defense outside and try to go through it."

"Snow is virtually a now-team, but I understand it has pretty good size and they are always well coached," he continued. "But I haven't been able to get much of a line on them."

Stone-Papsee bout to feature Jerome card

JEROME — Marvin Stone will send Ed Bean of Jerome against Garth Hanson of Blackfoot. Those four provided the two last crowd pleasers last month.

Jack Blodsoe, Jerome's lone winner, will battle Rick Allen of Blackfoot. Others who will participate for Jerome are Dave Handy, 132 pounds; Wes Bleedsoe, 128 pounds; Kelly Trujillo, 180 pounds; Richard Sturgeon, 90 pounds; Dale Finley, 80 pounds; Lee Taylor, 110 pounds; Dirk Rosen, 140 pounds; Glen Thomas, 110 pounds; and Tim Rosen, 90 pounds. Bud Godby of Gooding will have four of his men battling on the Jerome side in Dirk Godby, Dande Godby, Jude Robinson and Ole Turner.

LaVera "Gooch" will be the official timer and Dale Trumbo of Boise the referee. Steve Brannon will be one of the judges.

Jerome will be considering a bit of revenge since Pocatello won all but one match in its pre-Christmas meeting. But the Jerome coaches, Chief Puntney and Ray Baker, believe their charges weren't quite in shape for that program and expect considerable improvement.

Rematches will find Lonnie Walz of Jerome and John Siegfeldt of Pocatello at 145 pounds. Another at that weight is Jerome's lone winner, will battle Rick Allen of Blackfoot. Others who will participate for Jerome are Dave Handy, 132 pounds; Wes Bleedsoe, 128 pounds; Kelly Trujillo, 180 pounds; Richard Sturgeon, 90 pounds; Dale Finley, 80 pounds; Lee Taylor, 110 pounds; Dirk Rosen, 140 pounds; Glen Thomas, 110 pounds; and Tim Rosen, 90 pounds. Bud Godby of Gooding will have four of his men battling on the Jerome side in Dirk Godby, Dande Godby, Jude Robinson and Ole Turner.

The Big Six Conference has a full slate up with undefeated Gooding meeting the 1-9 Indians at Shoshone, Wood River, 1-1 in this league, will be at Glennis Ferry and the loser can about forget catching Gooding, too.

Wendell, which shares the lead at 2-0, will entertain Filer, which is looking for its first win.

In the so-far topsy-turvy Magic Valley Conference, the real steady team of the group, undefeated Oakley, will entertain Murray. The Red Devils have brought up some sophomores and one freshman and have come on lately to win some games. Oakley is looking for its 34th straight.

Hansen, and Declo, both one game behind Oakley, will meet at Declo and again it appears neither can afford a loss since Oakley might lose one but doesn't figure to lose two.

Hagerman, which put up strong resistance to Oakley Tuesday, goes to Raft River and the Pirates had best ready to defend.

The century record is 0-4, and last year, but Dan Quarrie, who might be the best sprinter in the world now that John Carlos is retired, brings 0.2 outdoor time and will be going against ISU's Jamaican Carl Lawson.

The meet, which will have finals in both afternoon and evening sessions, is billed by ISU as being the "finest ever held in the Intermountain West."

The high school running events will be completed in the afternoon, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

High school field events go at 6:30 p.m. with open competition at 7:30 p.m.

The open field will include Olympian Ron Whitney (40 flat and 400-meter hurdles) BYU's Samson Tamani (45.4 in the quarter), three 16-foot pole vaulters.

Host coach Bob Beeten is looking for world records in the 100-yard dash and the 1000-yard run.

Stan Bergeson of BYU has been within four seconds of the 2:09.4 world mark and be running against 3:59.6 miler Duncan McDonald of Stanford, ISU's all-time best half-miler Ron Watters and 4:02 miler Steve Crain of USC.

South's two-club call was the artificial forcing opening used by nearly all experts today. North's two-heart response was JACOBY MODERN and showed from 4-6 high-card points. It also committed the partnership to game or higher. In JACOBY MODERN the two-club opening forces to game except when partner gives the artificial two-diamond response to show 0-3 high-card points. In that case it only forces to one trick below game.

South's four-spade contract would be reached in any system but this way. North had no worries about giving an immediate spade raise.

West opened the three of clubs. East took his ace and returned the deuce. South's 10 lost to West's jack and West continued with the king.

At this point it would have been a cinch for South to South was about to fall into the trap when he saw that he had a fine safety play at his disposal. He discarded a heart from dummy on the third club.

This would not have helped him if either opponent held all the trumps but it took care of the actual 3-1 split. He simply won the heart shift with his ace, drew trumps with three leads, cashed his ace and king of diamonds; led his deuce of trumps to dummy's eight and discarded his two little hearts on the high diamonds.

lose his contract. If he ruffed in dummy he would make the rest of the tricks if trumps broke—22—but against the actual and rather normal 3-1 break he would have been shut out of dummy forever and would have had to lose two heart-tricks.

South was about to fall into the trap when he saw that he had a fine safety play at his disposal. He discarded a heart from dummy on the third club.

This would not have helped him if either opponent held all the trumps but it took care of the actual 3-1 split. He simply won the heart shift with his ace, drew trumps with three leads, cashed his ace and king of diamonds; led his deuce of trumps to dummy's eight and discarded his two little hearts on the high diamonds.
